

Health & Wellness Professionals

You may not know this, but there are over 100 health and wellness businesses in Uxbridge, which is more than any other business type in the area. In other words, the competition is stiff and businesses who want to stay in business need to use effective avenues to attract new clients, and nurture relationships with current customers. This is where I come in.

I've been running the website, Uxbridge.com for twenty years, and with great success. Currently, Uxbridge.com is ranked third for searches for Uxbridge, Ontario, and receives nearly 100,000 views a month. Almost 100 businesses benefit from advertising on this site, including golf courses, restaurants, and yes, health and wellness ventures. All the companies represented on Uxbridge.com enjoy heightened awareness of their brand, better search engine ranking, and of course, increased business.

So why I am contacting you?

This summer, I'm relaunching the site to enhance our already powerful online presence. I want to give you the chance to take advantage of this opportunity. Considering there are new housing developments in the works, a corresponding growing population and a large aging population, now is the time to promote your health and wellness business on one of Uxbridge most visited business directories and town information sites. Check it out here:

It's no coincidence that Uxbridge's most successful health and wellness ventures (and companies in general) are part of Uxbridge.com. It's not just about slapping your name on the site and being done with it. Our content specialist and web development team make sure that your presence on our site is tailored to your business and budget, so you get the actionable and measurable results.

I'd love for you to be part of the exciting relaunch of Uxbridge.com. Feel free to contact me for more details.

Best,
